

The forum will run from 7:00-9:30pm with a break around the mid point. Faculty: Please encourage your students to be mannerly, to arrive on time, and to stay for the whole forum. If it's necessary for them to leave early, please ask that they leave during the break. Thank-you.
For resources and further information about this forum, visit the Speak Up, Speak Out web site at www.chsbs.cmich.edu/SUSO.

CMU Students Speak Up about College Life: The Good, the Bad and the Solutions

Tuesday, March 29, 7–9:30 p.m., UC Auditorium

SUSO Writing Prize Winners will be announced!

What do CMU Students Say?

Jason Bentley, FYE Director, will present research findings on students' perceptions of their experiences at CMU.

Panelists:

Brooke Adams - SR, Grand Blanc
Samantha Thorpe - GR, Milford
Kasey Stevens - SR, White Cloud
CMU President George Ross

Facilitator: Merlyn Mowrey, PHL/REL

Photo by Matthew Stephens, Courtesy of CMLife

Let's Talk!

- How do social experiences contribute to campus life?
- Is there a link between those experiences and your education?
- What kind of academic experiences do you have in a typical class?
- How can you tell when you're learning?
- Has your college experience met your expectations?

SUSO Organizing Committee: Faculty/Staff - Andrew Blom (PHL/REL), Ted Clayton (PSC), Jeffrey Drury (CDA), Moataz Fattah (PSC), Thomas Greitens (PSC), Justin Hayes-Smith (SASW), David Jesuit (PSC), Ulana Klymyshyn (MEC), Merlyn Mowrey- Chair (PHL/REL), Blaine Stevenson (SASW), Cherie Strachan (PSC).
Students - Matthew Bowyer, Travis Faber, Nathan Inks, Elyse Nelmark, Shannon Salk and Christina Wickham .
SUSO is sponsored by the College of Humanities and Social & Behavioral Sciences, the College of Communication and Fine Arts, the Office of the Dean of Students, the Assessment Council, the Multicultural Education Center, the Volunteer Center, Pi Sigma Alpha, Model U.N. and the Center for Professional and Personal Ethics.
CMU, an AA/EEO community, strongly and actively strives to increase diversity within its community. (See www.cmich.edu/aeo.) Requests for accommodations due to a disability should be made through University Events at least five business days prior to the event.